

BEYOND THE DETAILS

Working with home owners, businesses and developers, Studio 853 Design knows that beyond great design details, there is an elaborate creative process well above the colours and drapes. In their opinion, it all starts with experience and knowledge.

“The more one knows about construction, the better we are at resolving design issues and bringing diverse solutions to the table. This element is what can make a project stand out.”

Chantale Charette, Owner & Principal Designer /
Landscape Architectural Technician

Surrounding themselves with professionals of the same work ethic, they work closely with their contractors and are supported by engineers and architectural peers. Together with Studio 853 Design, they dialogue about the possibilities, the potential and the risks.

“Many design images portray simplicity and clean lines, although not many can estimate the work behind the scene”

Valerie Meloche, Intermediate Designer

Working on a variety of custom designs for their clients has taught them that all projects being different have one common bottom line: Creativity coming from good understanding of construction is how special details come to life.

For instance, Highbridge Construction has hired us to collaborate on an infill property from the ground up. Starting from the exterior building design to all interior finishes, custom cabineteries and built in features such as the fireplace, stairs, interior transoms and so much more. Details have elevated this project to another level.

Whether you are renovating with them or you are building a new construction, Studio 853 Design is equipped with the experience and knowledge to create those special details to your home!
